FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET CLOSED HEAVY.
Concerted Pressure Was Made Upon Motors in the Last Hour.

New York, Jan. 25.—Efforts of the professional element to infuse interest in today's market by elevating equipment and other issues to 7 points were moderately successful until the final hour when heaviness in motors, shipping and of the more vulnerable specialties caused a general reversal and an irregular close.

Features of early strength included New York Air Brake, American and Baldwin Locomotives, General Electric, Western Union and American Can. American Can, the metals, particularly steel shares, International and American Writing Papers, Oil, Industrial Alcohol and several utilities, such as Montana Power, Western Union and Mackay companies.

The all-around decline of the last hour was primarily due to concerted efforts of the professional element to create a large amount of artificial demand for gold to South America, which was announced and foreign exchange was again erratic, fires making some recovery from their extreme depression, while marks moved contrarily.

Dealings in bonds were light with an irregular tone, the new St. Paul offering finding no reflection in railway values. Total sales (par value) aggregated $2,000,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

CUCURAS BLEACHES ON AIDS
That Itched and Burned. Hard Crust Formed Like Scales. Face Broke Out. Two Cakes Cucur Soap and Two Boxes Ointment Healed.

"Great blotches broke out on my arms that would itch and burn so that when I scratched them they spread till my arms were covered. Then a hard crust formed just like a scale. My face too broke out the same way and the eruption caused disfigurement. I lost a good deal of sleep. My arms were so inflamed so I could not roll up my sleeves and I was prevented from doing my work."

"I sent for a free sample of Cucur Soap and Ointment. It gave me relief so I bought more, and I used two cakes of Cucur Soap and two boxes of Ointment when I was completely healed. (Signed) Miss Josephine Hov, Adams Court, Bideford, Me., July 20, 1916."

You may rely on Cucur to care for your skin, scalp, hair and hands. Nothing better to clear the skin of pimples and blotches, the scalp of dandruff and the hands of chapping. Besides the Soap has no superior for all toilet uses. For return mail address post-card: "Cucur, Dept. R, Boston." Sold throughout the world.

TRAP and FIELD
THE BEST TRAPSHOOTING TEAMS

Only a Fraction of Target Difference in Averages of 20 Highest Professionals and Amateurs—Their Combined Figures Showing 96 Per Cent. on 64,000 Targets.

By Peter P. Carney
Editor National Sports Syndicate, All-American Trapshooting Teams

There is but slight difference in the ability of the professional and amateur trapshooters.

The 1916 averages compiled by the Interstate Association for the Encouragement of Trapshooting, and just issued by Secretary Shuman, show there is but a fraction of target difference in the percentage of the highest 20 trapshooters—10 amateur and 10 professionals.

The professionals have the edge—but it isn't much. The fellows who make a living "busting" the blue roofs broke 38 1/2 out of 40 targets for a combined average of 96 1/2. The 10 leading amateurs the fellows who combine trapshooting with their business—broke 24-277 targets of the 25, 975 targets and averaged 95 1/2. The 20 trapshooters shot at 64,000 targets and averaged 96 1/2. That is what you call "busting" the targets with a vengeance.

The fact that the professionals had a slight advantage on the amateurs in the average doesn't necessarily mean that the professionals would beat the amateurs in a team match. The amateurs in the select 10 are a fine bunch of trapshooters. One of the amateurs listed is the late A. B. Richardson, of Dover, Del. The eleven amateur on the list is J. R. Jahn, of Davenport, Ia., who had an average of 95 1/2—and a winter league record of 96 1/2. Richardson had to be listed in the place of Richardson.

In the 1915 averages also the professionals had a slight advantage on the amateurs—the figures being 96 1/2 to 96 1/2. The best professional shots vary but little from the best amateur to year. Only two of the men who were in the first 10 in 1915 failed to get in 1916. Henderson and Graper are the only amateurs to get in the select circle of amateurs in 1915 and 1916.

There are a couple of singular things in connection with the averages. Phil Miles, the professional champion, and Frank Troch, the amateur champion were twenty-fifth in their respective divisions and both were amateurs and professionals had 31 shooters with an average of 95 or better. The amateurs had 9 over 96 and the professionals had 16 over 96. The amateurs had 16 over 96, 3 over 97 and one with 98. Ralph Spotts, the amateur champion at 200 targets, was eleventh on the list.

Mrs. Adolph Torgerson is the only woman professional shot broke 23 of the 290 targets trapped for her for an average of 94 1/2. George Maxwell, the one-armed professional shot, broke 34 1/2 of the 360 targets thrown for him for an average of 94 1/2.

THE LAST CALL FOR FURS AND VELVETS

For the first time in many years the Pittsburgh Pirates are to pass up Hot Springs as a training camp. Manager Callahan will take the Buccaners to Columbus, Ga. in the hope that a change in training camps will bring a change in luck for his team.

The Cleveland Indians will again do their spring training at New Orleans, the Phillies doubtless figuring that they can repeat last season's fine start after working out in the Louisiana city. Should the Indians make good this season for the pitcher, the generally accepted notion among big league managers that large cities make the best training camps.

Considerable interest will center in the spring performances of the Athletics at Jacksonville. Connie Mack will have a small army of young tossers to try out, and his followers have a hunch that the team pilot is all set for a "come-back."

Football Authorities Doubtful.
Eastern football authorities are extremely doubtful regarding the financial success of a professional football league backed by baseball magnates, or in fact any similar organization. While any and all the big league club managements stand ready to rent the baseball parks, during the off season, to responsible parties, there is not the slightest doubt that the magnates would derive into their money bags and bring forth the coin necessary to establish a league of eleven, such as Bryce in his views on that phase of the entire reply which were given to The Associated Press today.

This is the first time the former ambassador to the United States has appeared in connection with the peace discussion, for which he has been carefully considering President Wilson's moves and the responses made to them, he has refrained from any utterances on the subject. Concerning Turkey, however, Lord Bryce's views were formulated before the peace notes were exchanged and will appear in about a month for publication in London and New York under government auspices. Owing to their direct bearing upon the terms regarding Turkey laid down by the allies, he has now made them available to The Associated Press.

"No one who has studied the history of the near east for the last five centuries," said Lord Bryce, "will be surprised that the allied powers have declared their purpose to put an end to the rule of the Turk in Europe, and still less will be dissent from the determination to deliver the Christian population of what is called the Turkish empire, whether in Asia or in Europe, from the government which, during those five centuries, has done nothing but oppress them."
